The FOUNDATION OF COMFORT

EVERY enduring superstructure in this world must have a good foundation.

This is of primary importance. As a good foundation upon which to build your health and happiness, nothing can be more substantial than properly cared-for feet. If you have two good feet under you, take care of them. Put them into the right shoes—and you may expect the permanent basis of real and lasting foot-comfort.

Every "INVICTUS" last is a faithful mould of the human foot, and upon it, from the very best materials, is made "The Best Good Shoe."

AROUND THE TOWN

Mr. A. Gertz and Miss Hannah Gertz of the Modern Tailoring Co. were visitors at Edmonton for a week, returning on Monday.

The services at the Baptist church on Sunday next will be conducted by the pastor. Services at 11 and 7.30. All heartily invited.

Miss McArthur expects to hold her fall millinery opening shortly and requests her customers to wait and see the very latest fall creations in millinery.

Mrs. Ben Nixon, daughter-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. J. Nixon, who has been visiting her relations here for a short time, returned to her home in Moosejaw on Monday.

The Evangelical Sunday School picnic was held at the Butte on Wednesday. A splendid programme of races was carried out and the large crowd present thoroughly enjoyed themselves.

H. B. Atkins, Secretary of the Fair Board, has been notified by the Department of Agriculture that they will supply a judge for dairy products at the forthcoming fair, Wednesday and Thursday, October 2nd and 3rd.

A fine sample of Early Rose potatoes was brought in to us by Mr. W. W. Butts on Monday. A feeling seems to prevail in Calgary that the B. C. potatoes are the only ones. They are making a big mistake when they have the chance to secure such potatoes as the above close to their doors.

Mr. Ira Syck of Brownsdale, Minn., a nephew of W. F. Sick, came to Didsbury last Thursday and likes this country so well that he thinks himself a permanent fixture here. Mr. W. F. Sick is the representative of the Canadian branch of the Sicks while his visitor is the representative of the American branch.

A social gathering of Berlin old-timers was held at the residence of Mr. D. S. Shantz on Thursday afternoon last, when Mr. B. C. Hallman of Berlin, Ont., Mr. A. Rosenberger of New Dundee, Ont., and Mr. J. Colman of Saskatchewan were the honored guests. About thirty guests participated in the affair and a good time was spent in talking of the old times in and around Berlin.

Another shooting accident occurred last week at the home of Mr. Lawrence Gilmour at Hartman. Mr. Gilmour's son and a cousin visiting with him started out with shotguns for some sport. In some manner the gun carried by the cousin was discharged, the shot hitting Bert in the leg just above the ankle. The injured boy was brought into town and Drs. Reid and Weart went hunting for the shot, taking out about a dozen. The lad is recovering but will have a sore leg for a while.

A social afternoon in honor of Mrs. Julianne Daum and Mrs. W. E. Liesemer, mother and sister respectively of Rev. J. S. Daum, was tendered by the Ladies Aid of the Evangelical church at the parsonage from 3 to 6 on Tuesday afternoon. In attendance a liberal response of the members and friends was in evidence and a variety of readings as well as vocal and instrumental music was rendered, after which a little pastime of a poetic nature was entered upon and altogether a most enjoyable time was spent.

Because Arthur Tibbin, a member of the government telephone crew who have been working in this district for some time, objected to the paying for the cooking of a fine, juicy beefsteak at the Chinese restaurant on Monday evening he proceeded to make things lively for the celestials and the consequence was he broke a pair of scales. The Chinamen objected, but Mr. Tibbin made his getaway and there was a procession of Chinamen and others scattered all over the prairie west of town till the constable captured him. He was released on $50 bail being provided and the case came before Magistrate Atkins and Shantz at the Council Chambers on Tuesday, when he was fined $5 and costs and had to give a bond for $50 for a new set of scales.

Mrs. Daum and Mr. and Mrs. Liesemer leave for their homes in Ailsfeldt and Waterloo, Ont., on Thursday morning, after having spent a couple of pleasant months among friends in Didsbury and community.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer
One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

No Milkshops

One great mistake made by many of the parents who object to training
young children is the notion that discipline connotes harshness. It need do nothing of the kind.

How did you bring your sons up to be so obedient and dutiful? we said. They defer to you in everything, and yet there isn't a bit of the milkshop about them, and they are not a bit afraid of you. You seem to be such friends, and yet I have heard you say you have strong ideas about obedience. How did you manage it?

I made them obey absolutely; I was strict in my discipline; I tried to be entirely just, and I loved them
to death, was the answer.

So long as your children are persuaded that devoted love is the cause and accompaniment of the discipline you need not be afraid that they will drift away from you, if you make justice one of the foundations of your training.

Begin with your tiny baby and, as you drill him in regular habits of eating and sleeping, accustom him to the method of obedience. When the time comes—as it may—when we will attempt a small revolt, don't give way, but hold your own. Avoid issues as much as possible, but when they come meet them squarely.

A Sea Sandstorm

With its decks covered with an inch or more of sand, and the officers and crew looking as if they had returned from a desert trip, the schooner Alvena, twenty-seven days from Columbia River, in command of Captain Abrahamson, arrived in San Diego, Cal., recently. While the vessel was coming alone under a light wind seventy-five miles off shore and 125 miles north of San Diego, it became enveloped in a cloud of fine sand. The sea was smooth and the wind from the south-east. The dust seemed to drop from the sky.

This condition prevailed for two days, according to the crew, and not until Point Loma was sighted did they get out of the dust. From that time until the schooner got into port the crew was busy sweeping the accumulated sand off the lumber cargo and decks, and getting the fine particles
of grit out of their eyes and hair.—

Tardy Honors for Lady Hamilton

An extraordinary proposal has been made, apparently in good faith, to exhume the remains of Emma, Lady Hamilton, from her grave in Calais
and transport them to Westminster Abbey. The argument is that Nelson bequeathed her to the country, and sentimentalists think that some amends for letting her die in poverty may be made by burying her nearly a century later in the "national Valhalla."

It is argued that it was only through her influence that Nelson went to sea again and so fought and won his greatest victory at Trafalgar. He had formed a desire to settle down to a country life, but Lady Hamilton persuaded him to make one more cruise in the service of his country.

Those who oppose the transfer suggest that her motive was not patriotism, but a desire for a little more limelight, and they add that although it is true she ran through a property of $2,000 a year of her own she was not exactly starving when she died, as she was in the enjoyment of an annuity of $200 settled upon her by her daughter Horatia.

What do you think of this scheme
of having the countries exchange children?

What's the idea?

An English family, for instance, exchanges children for a couple of years with a German family. Thus both sets of children get a chance to learn another language. References are exchanged and all that sort of thing.

It's an elegant scheme. My neighbors have a kid that I would like to see exchanged with some family in Siberia.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

GUARD BABY'S HEALTH IN THE SUMMER

The summer months are the most dangerous to little ones. The complaints of that season which are cholera infantum, colic, diarrhoea and dysentery come on so quickly that often a little one is beyond aid before the mother realizes he is really ill.
The mother must be on her guard to prevent these troubles or if they do come on suddenly to cure them. No other medicine is of such aid to the mother during hot weather as is Baby's Own Tablets. They regulate the bowels and stomach and are absolutely safe. Sold by medicine

Royal Relics

Notwithstanding the efforts of stewards to keep track of royal relics,
such things turn up in odd places from time to time. For instance the silk stockings which Queen Victoria is said to have worn on her wedding day and a piece of orange blossom from her bridal bouquet were among a number of royal bits and scraps
sold a day or two ago at the Manor House, Knaresborough, near Harrogate. They fetched $77. They were found in a bijou table which also contained pieces of the bridal cake of King Edward and King George, Lord Nelson's garter and a pair of shoes once worn by Pauline Bonaparte, sister of the great Napoleon.

WELL PEOPLE TOO

Wise Doctor Gives Postum to Convalescents.

A wise doctor tries to give nature its best chance by saving the little strength of the already exhausted patient, and building up wasted energy with simple but powerful nourishment.

"Five years ago," writes a doctor.
"I commenced to use Postum in my own family instead of coffee." (It's a well-known fact that tea is just as injurious as coffee because it contains caffeine, the same drug found in coffee). "I was so well pleased with the results that I had two grocers place it in stock, guaranteeing its sale."

"I then commenced to recommend it to my patients in place of coffee, as a nutritious beverage. The consequence is, every store in town is now selling it as it has become a household necessity in many homes."

I'm sure I prescribe Postum as often as any one remedy in the Materia Medica—in almost every case of indigestion and nervousness I treat,
and with the best results.

When I once introduce it into a family, it is quite sure to remain. I shall continue to use it and prescribe it in families where I practice.

"In convalescence from pneumonia,
typhoid fever and other cases I give
it as a liquid, easily absorbed diet.
You may use my letter as a reference any way you see fit." Name given by Canadian Postum Co., Windsor, Ont.

What a Rat Will Do

Almost unbelievable are some of the things done by the rat, the squealing, filthy gluttonous, all-pervading and all-destroying brown rat. Rats often gnaw the hoofs of horses until the blood comes. They have been known to attack fat hogs and eat holes in their bodies, causing death.
They will fight human beings if cornered. They often steal valuable articles to help them in building nests.

The following were found in a single nest: Three bedroom towels, two serviettes, five dust cloths, two pairs of linen knickerbockers, six linen pocket handkerchiefs, and one silk handkerchief. This rat, which was a model of industry and thrift, had carried away and stored near its nest 1½ lbs of sugar, a pudding, a stalk of celery, a beet, carrots, turnips and potatoes.

In the last dozen years over 5,000, 000 human beings have died of plague
in India alone. The Indian Plague Commission, after careful enquiry, found that bubonic plague in man is entirely dependent on the disease of the rat.

Marvelous in its destructiveness is the common house-mouse, closely related to the rat. The field-mouse, too, is highly destructive, the most destructive of all the rodents.

The cheapness of Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator puts it within reach of all, and it can be got at any druggist's.

Save One for Her

Edith was light-hearted and merry over everything. Nothing appealed to her seriously. So one day her mother decided to invite a very serious young parson to dinner, and he was placed next the light-hearted girl.
Everything went well until she asked him—

"You speak of everybody having a mission. What is yours?"

My mission, said the parson, is to save young men.

Good, replied the girl, I'm glad to meet you. I wish you'd save one for me.

This is to certify that I have used MINARD'S Liniment in my family liniment on the market. I have found it excellent for horse flesh.

The Psychology of Italics

Doctors of style in the writing of English declare that the use of italics
for emphasis is a positive fault, showing weakness of construction and inability to express ideas strongly by a right arrangement of words. Nevertheless, italics are used deliberately by some forceful writers to gain added effect and to fasten the eye and the mind of the reader upon important points somewhat as a speaker will strengthen his oration by vocal emphasis and gesture. Whatever may be said for or against the use of italics
they certainly reveal the writer's sense of relative importance in the things he has written. He has selected words and phrases, and has given them special prominence. As we note their significance we begin to know more of the man behind the words. His choice of emphasis tells us what manner of man he is.
His italics are either an index of his mental or moral character.

We are all writing history day by day. On every page some things are written small, others stand out boldly in italics. Take up the book at night and read the story of the day. "It will be an interesting record—perhaps a startling one. Doubtless we shall feel very much like correcting the proof when we find where the italics are set."—Christian Herald.

An Oil That is Prized Everywhere.— Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil was put upon the market without any flourish over thirty years ago. It was put up to meet the wants of a small section, but as soon as its merits became known it had a whole continent for a field, and it is now known and prized throughout this hemisphere. There is nothing equal to it.

Size of Future Ships

Sir William White, a leading naval architect, declared recently that the facts that tend to limit the increase in the size of ships are chiefly commercial. Large ships cost more to build than small ones, and are more expensive to operate. Moreover they are not so sure of obtaining their complements of passengers or cargo without delay. In addition, comparatively few harbors possess channels of sufficient depth or docks large enough, to accommodate vessels even of the length and weight of the Mauretania. Sir William believes that although large ships will continue to ply between a few favored ports for special services, and even larger ones may be built, the great bulk of ocean traffic will continue to be carried by vessels of moderate size.

Geo. Ham's Laundry

T story is told of a party of eastern manufacturers who were making a trip through the Canadian Northwest. The train was running about three hours late and it was essential that they reach a certain point A—on time to make train connections without delay. As they proceeded however, the train lost more time and the easterners began to get nervous.
They hunted up the conductor and had him interview the crew, but there was no gain in speed. At a stopping point they interviewed the crew personally and threatened to telegraph Sir Thomas Shaughnessy,
but this had no effect.

Finally a happy thought struck one of the Montreal travellers. He knew that George Ham was travelling in the west with an English party.
He also knew that George Ham always sent his laundry to Montreal and it was forwarded to him where-ever he happened to be. He told his conferees, and hunting up the conductor had him send a note to the engine driver that George Ham's laundry was on board and that the train must reach him at A— in time to deliver it to him. The hint of George Ham's laundry being on board was sufficient. The train began to gain time and that afternoon
they steamed into A— three minutes ahead of time.

saved. This Cordial can be given with safety to the smallest child, as there is no injurious substance in it.

USE OF WATERGLASS

Of the many ways of preserving eggs there is none that can be so strongly recommended as by means of waterglass, or soluble silicate of soda. The disadvantage of the lime, salt and water method is that while it preserves the contents in excellent condition, it makes the shells rough and very brittle, reducing their market value considerably. With the waterglass there is no such disadvantage, since it does not affect the shells in any way. Waterglass can be obtained from almost any chemist's shop, and as a rule sellers enclose directions with each sample regarding the correct amount of water to be added. Sometimes it is five times as much by bulk or by weight, sometimes ten times, sometimes twelve. The eggs, which should be fresh, clean, and, if possible, infertile, should be placed in a glazed vessel and the waterglass poured over them. Care must be taken that all the eggs are entirely submerged. For the benefit of those who know little of the process we may add that the use of waterglass for storing has long ago passed beyond the age of experiment. It is recognized as the best method for use at a time of scarcity.

FAT LADY'S SUITOR

Mountain of Fish War Rough With Amorous Young Man

The story of an unwelcome proposal of marriage to a professional lady caused great amusement at Glasgow Police Court when Miss Louisa Moore was charged with having seduced a music-hall artist named Harry Fowler. The case was adjourned.

Miss Moore, who is about 28 years old and weighs about 600 pounds, attracted to the court and was assisted to the bar by two lady attendants. On being asked to plead, she replied that she had struck Fowler, but she denied striking him by the throat, as was alleged.

Mr. Fowler said that he visited the museum in the Irongate along with three friends. A lecturer announced that Miss Moore was looking for a husband, and had been there five times but had failed to secure one. The complainant went forward and on to the stage, and touched the lady on the shoulder. He offered to marry her, but he was knocked into a corner. When he regained his feet she seized him by the throat, tore his collar and tie, and threw him among the people.

Making a public exhibition of a man after arresting him was the cause of a great deal of comment on Monday night. We have a lock-up and yet a store in the middle of the main street has to be taken to keep the prisoner in until the magistrates arrive to set bail, which is unusual. Why cater to the morbid curiosity of the crowd? No good end is reached by this method. The prisoner becomes more hardened and the crowd loses its respect for the majesty of the law. Whoever was responsible should realize that a proper place has been provided for such cases as this and guide themselves accordingly.

In six weeks the annual Fall Fair, Oct. 2nd and 3rd, will be held, and by appearances just at present it should be better than ever if the weather holds good. Crops never looked better and there should be a large and fine exhibit of grains; dairying has greatly increased this year, consequently dairy products and dairy animals should make a good showing; and last in this list but first in the minds of all is the horse sections, which have always been a great attraction at the fair, but this year should be better than ever with the new blood brought into the district. All these things help to make a good fair, but unless the general public also take an interest in it from now on and help to boost, it will only amount to a second rate show which would be a disgrace to a district like this. Boost for the Didsbury Fall Fair, October 2nd and 3rd.

A BABY TOWN

Coronation But Eight Months Old, Has Already Reached Important Proportions

The youngest town which the Made-in-Canada train honored in its tour of the West was Coronation. Here was found a hustling population of 1000 on a beautiful location about 100 miles east of Lacombe. The sale of lots took place on September 27th, 1911, and yielded $130,000.00 to the C. P.R., the company having decided that a divisional and injunction equipment should be located at this point, which was called Coronation in honor of the crowning of King George and Queen Mary. The sale had no sooner closed than gangs of workmen were put to work on the erection of buildings. Before the freeze-up Coronation had a population of about 700, who were comfortably housed in hastily built residences. The British spirit extended beyond the name, royal names being chosen for several of the streets.

Think of all a range should be (a range that's doubly guaranteed--guaranteed by the makers and guaranteed by us) and you'll buy

Thus, they have Victoria Avenue, Royal Street, and Windsor Avenue. They call the hotel Royal Crown. At present there are in the town about 350 buildings, including 3 general stores, 3 hardware stores, 1 confectionery, 5 lumber yards, 5 liverys, 5 implement agencies, 2 drug stores, 5 real estate agencies, 2 doctors, 2 lawyers, 4 pool rooms, 1 mill of permanent walks, 1 moving picture theatre and the Royal Crown Hotel which has 70 rooms, and cost $45,000.00. The protestors at Coronation are up to date; knowing that church union was in the air, they endeavored to organize a Union church, but at the meetings which were held for that purpose there was too much dissension to go ahead with the proposal. Therefore the denominations remain separate. With union, however, they would have erected a fine church and paid some man a good salary. Here as in other points in the West the real estate agent has been at work, and already two quarter sections have been subdivided and sold; another quarter section is held by the C.N.R. and another by the C.P.R., the latter Company having made plans to erect a 7 story round house, a substantial station and other buildings associated with divisional headquarters. New school and municipal buildings will be erected this summer, school being held at present in a small two roomed building, with H. L. Merrill, formerly of Toronto in charge. The publicly end of the new town is well looked after by W. F. Beamish, formerly of the Owen Sound Advertiser, who issues the Coronation Review, a weekly whose first issue appeared on the day the town was born.

WORKERS ARE NEEDED

"What we want in Canada," said J. H. Sherrard, speaking in Montreal "is the worker, not the loafer. There is no room here in Canada for the man afraid or unwilling to work. We want farmers to develop the vast stretches of land yet untitled in our West, and we want artisans and laborers to supply the rapidly growing home and foreign market."

Mr. R. S. Gourlay, Toronto, said, wages in Canada were higher than in any other country, and the conditions under which the men work were excellent. These facts should be advertised to the world for the appreciation of their truth would do much to solve the difficulty manufacturers experience in getting skilled labor and bring a better class of citizens to the Dominion.

FOR BETTER FARMING

A Western exchange says: "The farmers of this vicinity are inspired with the idea that industry is a good tonic and are all out harrowing their wheat. Every year demonstrates the fact that we must quit scratching over so much ground and get down to scientific farming and only farm what we can properly handle to get good results. Work is necessary to success in this country just the same as anywhere else. It is up to us to farm better and farm less land."

She stopped in her walk, and stood with head averted.

It is useless she said in a low voice; I have been through too much. I cannot leave Loders Abbey. I cannot marry; my life seems fixed among these shadows.

But all this is mere morbid fancy! he cried with the impetuosity of youth. Our lives are our own; we can shake them free from shadows. It is only your kindness to others which ties you to this place. Why should you give up all that makes life worth living to wait upon a selfish invalid?

All that makes life worth living, she repeated, looking at him with her strangely shining sky-blue eyes. And what do you think makes life worth living?

He took her hand gently between both his.

Love, he replied. Only love!

She drew her hand away, but he had felt it quiver within his clasp, and he saw the tears start to her eyes.

Talk about something else! she exclaimed imperatively; and never speak to me in this way again. How long do you mean to stay at the Manor Farm?

Until I move to Lyllyngton Court. She stopped in her walk again, and looked at him, frowning.

Is it not possible to warn you? she asked almost irritably. Has everything been so pleasant and easy for you up to now that you imagine you have only to proclaim yourself master here and live happy ever after? Have there been no difficulties? Answer me truthfully, if you please.

Willingly! On the way down here from London I was drugged by a stranger, who yesterday met me and tried to poison me—

That can't be true!

It is true, all the same. I would have shown you the bottle of poison I found in my pocket but unfortunately your favorite Sammy stole it with a handful of pence from a drawer in the dining-room, and I haven't seen the fellow since. Then, on Sunday, a woman threw stones at me as I came from church, and later in the day Mr. Denzil Warne turned me out of his house because he recognized the crest on the ring I wear.

She glanced at it and shuddered. There is something wrong with my bed-room at the farm, he went on gaily. Not only have I a wicked-looking old lady in a picture who never takes her eyes off me, but she materializes herself, tampers with my letters—

Now you are joking.

No, it is true. And, as a last touch, newspapers are thrown at me from nowhere, containing warnings—

He stopped short, for advancing towards them from the house under the fruit trees, a little bent, black-haired man was approaching, and he knew her at once as the one he had seen passing along the road before the "Royal Hotel" after he had found the paper at his feet.

CHAPTER XXIX Stephen Jessop

The black-haired woman walked straight up to Lady Anne, and gave her some message in a guttural tone under her breath, glancing as she did so at Harry, as though her words concerned him.

Seen at close quarters, she was not ill-looking. Out of her leather-colored skin a pair of expressive black eyes looked upon the world with shrewd, if sad, observation. She reminded Harry of a pleasant-faced marmoset, with her small face, shrivelled face and her great, melancholy eyes.

The effect of her message upon Lady Anne was remarkable. She grew red and white, angry, puzzled, and frightened by turns. She appeared to remonstrate with the woman, speaking to her in a half French, half Spanish patois, which Harry could not follow. But Maria insisted and he noticed she made a gesture of her hand in his direction.

It is absurd, broke from Lady Anne. Then after a moment's reflection, she said to Harry, it must be one of his whimsical fancies. But Stephen Jessop, the old steward, who has been paralysed for seven years and who lives at Loders, insists upon seeing you. He says he hears you saved his little great-grandson from drowning last week, and that he wants to thank you. Is that true?

It is true that I pulled the little lad out of a pond, Harry answered. He seemed to me a charming little chap.

Lady Anne's face clouded at once. I am not fond of children, she remarked coldly.

Maria addressed her again in the pause that followed, in low, insistent tones.

She wants to take you back with her, Lady Anne said. But you may not care to be bothered with Stephen.

On the contrary, I shall be delighted to make his acquaintance. The old gentleman is rather a Tartar, is he not?

She looked at him sharply. Oh, you have heard of him, she said in a voice of relief. Who told you?

Not quite through my own wish, I am on very friendly terms with your two young women servants, he replied, Miss Jessop and Miss Dupont.

I don't like either of them, she said emphatically. Susan is self-willed and pert, and Lisette is impossible. But Maria is determined to carry you off. So you had better go with her. I will see you in the house later.

And will you show me the Abbots' tomb? he asked, anxious for a little more time with his liege lady.

If you like.

She spoke indifferently, and turned away after giving him a nod of dismissal. But as soon as he had accompanied Maria for a few yards the look of keen anxiety came back upon her face, and she followed them at a little distance down the cloister, to the spot where a door which had been made in the wall gave immediate access to a small hall, almost without light, in which was one door only, that of Stephen Jessop's room.

Lady Anne entered this little hall immediately after Harry and his guide had gone into the steward's presence. There was no hesitation in her movements. She knelt down on the stone floor and listened intently, holding her breath the while, to everything that went on inside the room.

It was, as Lisette had said, a handsomely furnished apartment, arranged as a bed and sitting-room. The light was carefully shaded so as not to reach the eyes of the old man, who had been placed on a couch beneath the window. He lay upon cushions, wrapped in a silk embroidered quilt, upon cushions, wrapped around his shoulders. Trails of a woollen shawl creper darkened the window, and within the light was so much modified by a curtain of fine red silk which was drawn across it, that Harry could only dimly discern the white hair and beard, the shaggy white eyebrows, and the pale emaciated face of what appeared to be a very old man, lying there without movement and with eyes that were nearly closed.

His voice, when he spoke after a short pause, was feeble and broken. Have you a-broughten en, Maria?

Yes.

You mid go ontill I ring.

The woman retired by the door through which she had entered, and, passing her mistress, who had risen to her feet, at her coming, she went out into the garden.

They tell me, sir, Stephen began after a pause that you saved my little grandson from a-drownen' t'other day?

A Grouch's Story

A couple of old grouches were one night speaking of an old friend, who upon his marriage, took up his residence in another city. One of the grouches had recently visited the old friend, and naturally the other old grouch wanted news of the Benedict. Is it true that he is henpecked? asked the second grouch.

I wouldn't say just that, grimly responded the first grouch, but I'll tell you of a little incident in their household that came within my observation. The very first morning I spent with them, our old friend answered the letter carrier's whistle. As he returned to us, in the breakfast-room, he carried a letter in his hand. Turning to his wife, he said—

A letter for me, dear. May I open it?

A Lengthy Stock in Trade

The late Will McConnell, an advance agent and a Broadway character of much renown, was standing in the baggage room of a railroad station in company with Mel Stoltz, another advance agent. They were waiting to have their trunks checked. Presently a baggage handler passed, pushing a sample trunk, which according to Stoltz, was about nine feet long and about two feet wide.

For the love of Mike! ejaculated Stoltz, what do you suppose the owner of that trunk sells?

I don't know, said McConnell, but from the shape of that package I'd say bowling alleys.—Kansas City Times.

Minard's Liniment Cures Distemper

Japs Want Longer Legs

The attempts now being made to lengthen the legs of Japanese school-children, so that eventually the stature of the race may equal that of the European and American, were described to the City Club recently by Harvey N. Shepard, of Boston.

Mr. Shepard had just completed a globe-encircling trip, which was devoted to study of local self-government.

Children in Japan now sit upon chairs instead of squatting, he declared. This is being done as an attempt to make their legs grow longer.

Japanese surgeons say that the trunk of a Japanese is as large as that of a European, but that the former's legs are much shorter, making the race of Nippon appear decidedly smaller. If the legs of several generations can be stretched by using chairs, instead of the old custom of squatting, the Jap will be as tall as men of other nations.

No man or woman should hobble painfully about because of corns when so certain a relief is at hand as Holway's Corn Cure.

Spanking Inspiration

Olie was recalcitrant and she was wise. Mamma had certain rules for punishing her irresponsible offspring and they were as unalterable as those of the Medes of whom Olie had never heard but whose rigor she understood.

So when Olie forgot mamma's commands one day and lingered too long at forbidden play she felt the coming storm as she meandered home. Then came an inspiration.

Aunt Annie, won't you spank me, please? Olie fairly shouted at her auntie.

Why, Olie, what do you mean? What have you done?

Then came a tearful confession of wrongdoing, and as a climax:

Please you spank me, Aunt Annie; mamma hurts more than you do.

It is only fair to state that Olie escaped altogether this time.

Minard's Liniment Cures Garget in Cows

A Novel Complaint

A real estate man was confronted with a novel case of fault-finding the other day, and is still a little puzzled by it.

It appears that he negotiated the sale of a piece of land for a special purpose several years ago, and the property, through neighborhood changes, has become worth ten times what the present owner paid for it.

The other day the same man came in and said he wanted another lot for a special purpose. The dealer told him he had the very thing, adding that he believed the land would increase in value in the same ratio the first had done.

Not on your life, cried the prospective customer. I bought a $3,000 lot from you and it serves my purpose as well as if it cost twenty times as much. Instead of paying the expenses on a $3,000 lot, however, I am assessed on a $30,000 one and have no possible way of making up the difference. Sell me a $3,000 lot that will stay put at $3,000 this time, and don't you dare saddle me with a hungry white elephant.

And the dealer is still a little dazed.

It is said that each year three thousand foreign waiters find employment in England.

MONEY TO LOAN ON FARM PROPERTY AT CURRENT RATES OF INTEREST

More About The Loading Platform

The present generation of Western farmers will never know the difficulties and vexations experienced by their predecessors in the earlier years when no one could get a carload of grain shipped in bulk except by loading it through an elevator. The system forced the majority of farmers to sell their grain to the elevator owners at arbitrary prices, and oft times to submit to heavy dockage and other annoyances, causing continual dissatisfaction. Now however the distribution of cars as fixed by the Grain Act, and the use of the loading platform, provide facilities which enable the farmer to secure satisfactory treatment in the disposal of his grain, and the highest market prices at time of sale. Every farmer therefore, should more and more endeavor to use the loading platform in shipping his grain to the terminal elevators. It is the safeguard of the farmers' freedom in disposing of his grain to the best advantage for himself. If farmers refrain from using the loading platform freely, it might result in its being done away with, because railway companies and elevator owners are strongly opposed to it. It is easy to understand why elevator people desire the loading platform abolished. The railway people on their part say it delays the loading of cars and helps to cause car shortage. This we know to be nonsense, because frequently after cars are loaded whether with grain, coal, lumber or other merchandise, they are sidetracked for days and even weeks instead of being promptly moved forward to destination. It is engine shortage and shortage of competent train men that mostly causes grain blockades on railways and not lack of cars. Let every farmer therefore, do all he can to use the loading platform and become an independent shipper. In subsequent advertisements we will state in detail the savings and other advantages of direct loading into cars compared with loading through elevators.

We handle the farmers grain strictly on commission, make liberal advances on car bills of lading, supervise the grading at time cars are inspected, secure the highest prices at time of sale and make prompt returns when sold. Write us for shipping instructions and market information.

HISTORY OF THE WEST

VALUABLE WESTERN DOCUMENTS PLACED IN ARCHIVES

Professor Oliver of Saskatchewan University, Discovers Important Manuscripts, Which Throw Interesting Light on the Early History of the West.

Ottawa, Ont.—The most valuable Canadian historical documents which have been discovered for years were collected this summer by Prof. Oliver, professor of history in Saskatchewan University. Prof. Oliver, who has been working at the archives for the government, has succeeded in locating practically all the records of the old Assiniboia council of Manitoba, which was the only government in the west, for years before Manitoba entered confederation. Most of these documents, it was supposed, were not in existence. Some of these manuscripts were found by Prof. Oliver in Manitoba and some in the archives at Ottawa.

Hon. Dr. Roche, secretary of state, under whose department the archives now fall, and who is taking a keen personal interest in collecting records of Canada's early history, thinks that these manuscripts will prove of exceeding value to historians and believes that they will throw fresh light on the early history of the west. He had a conference in regard to them with Dr. Doughty, deputy minister of the archives and Prof. Oliver and decided to publish the newly found documents in blue-book form so they will be available to all interested in western Canadian history.

We have less information I find, said Dr. Roche, in the archives in regard to the west than any other part of Canada. I want to secure all data, documents and manuscripts possible in regard to the early history of the west. Every year that passes makes it that much harder to secure. However, the minister is not confining his efforts to the west alone and, with a view to strengthening the hands of Dr. Doughty in securing original documents on Canadian history he has enlarged the manuscript commission by the addition of the following names: Arch-deacon Armitage, Nova Scotia; Arch-deacon Raymond, St. John, N.B.; Hon. Thos. Chapais, Quebec; Prof. Grant, Queens University and Sir Edmund Walker, Ontario; Prof. Chester Martin, Manitoba University and H. E. Gosnell, British Columbia.

Dr. Roche is also considering the appointment of a commission to go through all the Ottawa departments in a search for documents of historical interest which should be preserved in the archives. At present no effort is made to save or preserve departmental documents and the departments are filled with old files, which may hold documents of almost priceless value.

In England, said the doctor, after a certain number of years all papers go automatically to the archives. I think it is a good plan and I will like to recommend this system for Canada.

Among the relics found were human bones shaped into instruments used by the Indians, probably before the advent of the white man into America. Arm bones have been whittled at the wrist end to a point resembling a large spike nail. What these were made and used for is not known. Another addition is the erection in an excellent glass case of a pair of fine specimens of Arctic musk oxen.

Early Wheat Shapes Well

Winnipeg.—John Knox, one of the big grain growers of Greenridge, Man., shipped last week from that place over the C.N.R. to Toronto Exhibition, a sack of new wheat for exhibition purposes.

The grain, which is Red Fyfe, was cut on August 3, and is a very fine sample, grading No. 1 Northern. The berry is large and plump, and of beautiful color.

Harvesting has been general in the Greenridge district for nearly a week, and many farmers have from 75 to 100 acres of wheat cut.

The crop in that locality is very fine, and an abundant yield is assured.

Ontario Girls Come West to Marry
Toronto.—Eighteen prospective brides left the Union Station this week for Western Canada, travelling over the Grand Trunk.

A. E. Duff, district passenger agent states that this is only the first of a large number of Ontario girls who will go west for a similar purpose. Already he had received letters from various G.T.R. agents throughout the province stating that there were many girls in the country desirous of taking a chance in the matrimonial market and that he expected to have fully 50 in the next party.

Lord Sackville Visits Canada

Ottawa.—Lord Sackville, of Seven Oaks, England, and a member of the British house of lords, is one of the guests at the Chateau Laurier. He is not here on any special mission, but is merely looking over the country, and will do some hunting and fishing. He is a Conservative and opposes Irish Home Rule. He favors a large navy and believes the seriousness of the Anglo-German situation has not been exaggerated. He favors a Canadian contribution to the navy and also commends the Lloyd-George insurance bill, although he states that as yet it has not proved popular.

ONE MORE BATTLESHIP FOR U.S.

Democrats in Caucus Recede From Previous Attitude and Break Deadlock

Washington.—Democrats of the house have agreed in caucus to recede from their "no battleship" programme in this session and to permit the battleship champions to vote in the house for one such vessel. Unlike the four preceding caucuses, there was an absence of bitterness of feeling and by a rising vote of 95 to 11, the resolution of recession was put through. It is expected that the senate will agree to the one battleship ending the deadlock over the naval bill.

While the solid support of the majority in the house will not be given to the battleship programme, the leaders are confident that they will have far more than the necessary strength when aligned with the Republican friends of the navy. An effort will be made to have the warship to be authorized, the largest and most formidable fighting craft ever laid down.

FAST ATLANTIC SERVICE

Subject Will be Among First to be Considered at First Meeting

Ottawa.—Early consideration of the question of the establishment of a fast Atlantic service is promised on the return of the Rt. R. L. Borden and his colleague from London. This subject will be among the first to be dealt with by the cabinet.

It is learned that during his stay in England, Premier Borden has received a renewal of the offer of the syndicate, which includes Sir Thomas Trowbridge, for the establishment of a fast service from Halifax to Black-sod Bay. The promoters, it is understood ask for the usual government assistance and profess to be ready to do today what they proposed to do in 1907. The offer includes a service not only to Halifax on the Atlantic but also on the Pacific.

It is probable that a more formal offer will be placed before the government by those interested in the scheme and will be considered when the whole question comes before the council this fall.

AUSTRALIA AND PANAMA CANAL

Makes Representations to England That American Proposition is Unfair

Melbourne, Australia.—Alfred Deakin, leader of the Federal Opposition, asked Premier Fisher in the House of Representatives recently whether he intended to communicate with the Imperial Government respecting the American Senate's decision to exempt from Panama Canal tolls American coastwise shipping, as it is a matter of importance to Australia.

Premier Fisher replied that he regretted the American decision, which appeared to be clearly against the terms of the Anglo-American treaty. He already had communicated with and hoped that the matter would be satisfactorily settled.

EDMONTON — WINNIPEG CANAL

Estimate of Cost of Six-Foot Waterway to be Known Soon

Ottawa.—It is stated in official circles that Engineer Voligny, of the Department of Public Works, who has had charge of the surveys for the proposed six foot barge canal from Edmonton to Winnipeg, is now at work on a fiscal report and that an estimate of the cost of the proposed waterway will be in the possession of the government early this autumn.

The expectation in official circles is that a vote will be placed in the estimates next session for the preliminary work.

It is thought that the canal will cost several millions but the development of water power along the route may tend to reduce the cost somewhat.

LOTS OF MONEY FOR NAVY

Unionist Member Says Canada Will Give Anything a Responsible Minister Asks

London.—F. E. Smith, K.C., Unionist M.P., for the Walton Division of Liverpool, who is now on his way to Canada, writes as follows:—The maintenance of an adequate navy ought to be outside the scope of party controversy. The Canadian nation is enormously rich, and if appealed to with impressive truth, will find any money which a minister in whom it has confidence thinks right to ask. The one bright spot is found in the apparent intention of Canada to step into the field and help to redeem the maritime balance of the Old World.

To Banquet Premier Borden

Ottawa.—Preparations are now under way for the holding of a big banquet in the Chateau Laurier in honor of Premier Borden immediately on his return to Ottawa from England. The date has not been fixed pending the receipt of definite information as to the actual time of the premier's arrival home. All the arrangements are being made by the Conservative Association of Ottawa.

HOME RULE TROUBLES

GOVERNMENT IS AROUSED OVER INFLAMMATORY SPEECHES

Mr. Churchill Declares That Sir Edward Carson is the Moving Spirit of an Organization Which Has Avowed its Intention to Set up a Provisional Government.

London.—The Dundee Advertiser, an influential Liberal organ, prints the startling hint that the government is prepared to take action should the inflammatory speeches and doings of A. Bonar Law, Sir Edward B. Carson, Frederick E. Smith and other Conservative leaders in inciting Ulsterites to revolt, have the effect of provoking disturbances in Ulster, thus bringing them within the pale of the law. The newspaper recalls that Parnell and his associates were lodged in Kilmainham jail under similar circumstances.

A significant connection in the Advertiser article is that Winston Churchill continues his polemic against A. Bonar Law. On August 12 Mr. Churchill made a passionate attack upon the leader of the opposition for the latter's incitement of Ulster to resist home rule. In a further letter Mr. Churchill, referring to the Conservative incitement of Ulster, declares that Sir Edward Carson is the moving spirit of an organization which has openly avowed its intention to set up a provisional government, that is, the first lord says, a government of the Crown and the Parliament.

There has been a large importation of arms in Ulster, Mr. Churchill continues, and widespread drilling. Whatever Sir Edward Carson's merits as a military commander may be, nobody is a better judge of how near you may go to the edge of criminal conspiracy without actually crossing frontiers which must be guarded by law.

Mr. Churchill proceeds at length to denounce Bonar Law as the leader of a great party who is assuming responsibility beforehand for everything that Sir Edward may say or do. He says that if the Opposition leader has such confidence as he pretends to have for overturning the government speedily and taking office himself, why not wait patiently and win honorably, and added:—Why capsize the boat in jostling for the tiller.

Bonar Law may try to scramble out of the mess, Mr. Churchill's letter says in conclusion, but the consequences of his actions will pursue him and those identified with him. He has drawn a blank check of indefinite currency against the whole resources of the Unionist party which any ruffian or lunatic may present any morning filled in by the hand of crime. It is noteworthy that Mr. Churchill sits in parliament for Dundee and the article published in the Dundee Advertiser may be inspired.

Sir William P. Byles, Radical Member of parliament for the north division of Salford, in a letter sent to the newspaper says:—I confidently expect that Bonar Law will draw in his horns for he probably knows that indictments for treason and felony are being prepared in the attorney-general's office.

Was Hounded Out of Army

London.—The case of Lieut. Allen Sutor, sentenced to twenty-one days imprisonment for throwing a stone through a police station window, is referred to by radical newspapers as another illustration of the fate which befalls nearly every one who antagonizes the upper class in England.

Sutor was forced out of the army about two years ago for publishing a book telling of the pink tea existence led by practically all British officers and of the total unfitness of most of them for military leadership. He is a poor man and has since been hounded out of every position he has secured until he is on the verge of starvation.

It was to draw attention to this that he threw the stone.

Empresses Loaded Down With Freight

Vancouver.—For the first time in the history of the C.P.R. Pacific Empresses cargo has been stowed in staterooms on the westward voyage. This happened on the liner Empress of Japan, which sailed recently for Yokohama and Hong Kong. Liners on the trip from the Orient often carry silk in the cabins, but the Japan is the first to leave Vancouver with freight in the staterooms.

So much cargo is offered that quantities of it had to be shut out to await the next ship. Heavy consignments of flour, cigarettes and condensed milk fill the holds to the hatches and combings and staterooms were utilized.

Mulai Hafid Must Behave

Paris.—For keeping out of Moroccan politics in the future, ex-Sultan Mulai Hafid is to receive $75,000 yearly from the French Government, the "Temps" reports.

He is also to get a big indemnity for the forfeit of his throne, and his living expenses so long as he stays at Vichy, France.

Valuable Mementoes

Montreal.—In recognition of their services to the Duchess of Connaught during her recent illness, H.R.H. the Duke of Connaught has presented to Dr. Garrow and to the nurses most closely in contact with the duchess valuable mementoes. Four of the nurses at the Royal Victoria hospital were presented with autograph photographs.

TRADE WITH NEW ZEALAND

Commissioner Reports Island Colony Needs Many of Canada's Products

Ottawa.—The Canadian trade commissioner in New Zealand, W. A. Beddoe, in a report just received by the department of trade and commerce, contributes some interesting and important information with regard to trade possibilities between Canada and New Zealand. For the benefit of those who favor trade through Imperial channels it is shown that between the two countries there exists a reciprocal preferential tariff, adequate transportation facilities by subsidized steamers and a good demand for high-class Canadian natural and manufactured products.

The commissioner states that there is a particularly good demand for high class dairy cattle to improve New Zealand herds, and he asks for a list of exporters promising that good business will result. It is pointed out that during the year 1910, only 96 Canadian cattle were imported, most of these being from Ontario. For the fiscal year ending March 31, 1912, Canada supplied only $35,000 worth of boots and shoes to New Zealand.

Timber in the island colony is also about exhausted and the commissioner thinks that a trade in lumber could be worked up with British Columbia.

Last year more than one million dollars worth of iron and steel fittings was used and of this quantity Canada secured but $25,000, notwithstanding our preference of 20 per cent.

The commissioner is gratified to know that a new industrial concern for the manufacture of nails and wire will soon be instituted in Canada, and states that a large business may be established, providing the supplies are permanent.

The exports of butter to Canada during the past season, the report states, have exceeded all expectations. The report also notes that the arrival in New Zealand of thirty men, claiming to be Canadian farmers. They stated on arrival that the Canadian climate was too vigorous for them and they had decided to settle in New Zealand.

CADETS REACH MELBOURNE

City Will Make up for Indifference Shown at Sydney

Melbourne, Australia.—The contingent of Canadian cadets were accorded the warmest welcome on their arrival. The citizens of Melbourne have undertaken to defray all the expenses during their stay in Victoria. Complaints have been made by the lads as to the reception they received at Sydney, which aroused public opinion here, and the people are anxious that no slur shall be cast on Australian hospitality, so they are giving the lads a splendid time.

A Sydney dispatch states that the party of Canadian Cadets came with so little announcement that their presence was not realized until some little soreness had arisen at the suppressed lack of interest in their visit.

Many people and organizations would have been only too delighted to show them hospitality. The misunderstanding is much regretted, but the matter is now put to rights.

Fostering German Trade

Montreal.—Dr. Hans Hammann, the secretary of the German-Canada Economics Association who is on a mission to Canada with a view to fostering the trade between this country and Germany, has arrived in Montreal and after a few days here will visit Ottawa, Toronto and the west. He will confer with German business men in this city and also in other cities in Canada with a view to forming a corresponding association in Canada to keep the parent association in Germany fully informed of opportunities and developments that may lead to profitable trade.

C.P.R. Short of Laborers

Montreal.—There is a shortage of no fewer than 2,000 laborers on various parts of the C.P.R. system and the company has no hope that the shortage will be supplied in the near future.

Mr. Bailey, the company's employment agent in Montreal has been to Ottawa to see the commissioner of immigration but he has returned with little hope in sight.

Wages from $1.90 to $2.25 a day for construction work are being offered. The reason is believed to be that many European countries are now discouraging immigration.

Rogers Not to go to London

Ottawa.—Hon. Robert Rogers, who has returned to Ottawa from Winnipeg, has decided not to make his visit to England this year owing to the press of departmental business and the early return of Premier Borden and his colleagues. It is also possible that Colonel Hughes may call off his Aldershot trip.

To Use Motor Driven Warships

London.—The Copenhagen correspondent of the Daily Telegraph says that it appears that Italy will be the first power to use motor-driven warships.

The Italian government has just ordered from Copenhagen four warships fitted with Diesel engines.

H.B. Tenders Called Now

Ottawa.—Tenders have been called for the last section of the Hudson Bay Railway up to Tidewater, receivable until September 12.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL

Text of the Lesson, Luke iv, 16-30. Memory Verses, 18, 19—Golden Text, John i, 11 (R.V.)—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

According to the harmonies of the gospels, this lesson takes us back in the story a long distance, back to a time before the Sermon on the Mount, to a time soon after the first miracle at Canaan, and the meeting with the woman of Samaria, according to Matt. xiii, 54-58; Mark vi, 1-6. He did revisit Nazareth after the events in last week's lesson and taught in the synagogue but could do no mighty work except healing a few sick folk, because of their unbelief. They were astonished at His wisdom, but they were offended at Him and said: "Whence hath this man all these things? Is not this the Carpenter, the Son of Mary, the brother of James and Joseph and of Juda and Simon, and are not his sisters here with us?" He only replied, "A prophet is not without honor but in his own country and among his own kin and in his own house."

Because He said something similar in our lesson for today some one must have thought the incidents the same, and the more perhaps, because Luke only records this, and only Matthew and Mark the other. The incident of this lesson occurred very early in His ministry, while that was much later and was probably His last visit to Nazareth. Turning to this lesson we note that it was His custom to go to the synagogue on the Sabbath and it could not have been for the benefit received from any discourse there, but there was always a portion read from the law, the prophets and the psalms, and that could not but be profitable to a truly devout mind. Forsaking the assembling together is one of the common and increasing sins of our day, disobeying Heb. x, 25. There is a great forsaking of the house of God and despising of His word, but all things hasten to the consummation and the kingdom shall be the Lord's.

On this particular Sabbath He was asked to read, and there was given Him the roll of book of the prophet Isaiah. Finding the place known to us as chapter lxi, He read just a few sentences and closed the book or roll and gave it again to the minister and sat down. With what expression He must have read! It was surely according to Neh. viii, 8. He read distinctly and gave the sense, and now, having taken His seat, He was about to cause them to hear. He was about to cause them to understand the reading. We do not wonder that the eyes of all in the synagogue were fastened on Him (verse 20), for if this was His first reading it was the first time they had ever heard the Son of God read from His own book. How wonderful and startling were the words He uttered. "This day is this Scripture fulfilled in your ears!" (21). For a literal fulfillment of each sentence that He read see Luke viii, 22; vii, 12; yll, 42; ix, 39; xlii, 16; John ix. It was so through all His ministry. Anointed with the Holy Ghost and with power, He went about doing good and healing all that were oppressed of the devil, for God was with Him (Acts x, 38). They could not but wonder at His gracious words, and yet they could not forget that He was their own townsman, who had been brought up in their midst, whom they had seen and known day by day for nearly thirty years. Had He not made and mended their plows and yokes many a time? What could He mean by His reference of that Scripture to Himself? Whom did He think Himself to be? Truly they knew Him not, but, oh, if they had only had believed His word and inquired of Him more fully and meekly, how grand it might have been for them! What a heartache (as we would say) Israel always gave him, drawing from Him such words as: "Oh that they were wise, that they understood that they would consider! 'If thou hadst known!'—How often would I—and ye would not! Israel would none of me. (Deut. xxxii, 29; Luke xix, 42; Matt. xxiii, 37; Ps. lxxxi, 11) how patient and long suffering he has been! But there is a limit, and so they have been scattered now these many centuries, and He has been keeping silence, bearing with His church and the nations and the devil, but there was a sentence in Isaiah which He did not read that day at Nazareth. He stopped just as He came to it and shut the book.

We are still living in the acceptable year of the Lord, and still waiting for the day of vengeance of our God upon His enemies and the time to comfort all who mourn in Zion (Isa. lxi, 2, 3; lxxiii, 4). See Ps. i, 1-3; Isa. lxvi, 15, 16. They seem to have been offended not only at His saying but also because He did not in their town some of the mighty works He had done at Capernaum. He reminded them that in the days of Elijah and Elisha it was not a widow or a leper in Israel who was in a special manner helped, but a widow of Sidon and a leper from Syria, although at that time there were many widows and lepers in Israel. It seems strange that when people of their own will cut themselves off from blessings they grow angry because they are not blessed. But such is the perversity of the carnal mind, which is enmity against God. Those words about Elijah and Elisha filled them with wrath, and they would have killed Him had He not slipped away from them.

Railroad Matters

There is not much doing in new railroad matters, although rumors are rife in this regard. A short time ago the C. P. R. bought 51½ feet of land by the side of their right of way north of town from Geo. G. Hunter, the land being leased by Mr. W. Miller, and it is supposed that, in conjunction with the land the C. P. R. bought from Messrs. W. Miller and Bob Martin some time ago, that they intend putting in a long siding at this place.

Westcott News

Crops in this district are still doing well. No damage so far and some cutting is being done this week.

Mr. John Herscht sold to head of fine steers to Norman Weicker this week.

A report is current that the Didsbury-Westcott telephone company sold out to the government.

Miss Hallett went on duty as teacher of the Westcott school on Monday of this week.

Miss Violet Hunsperger has gone to Calgary to continue her studies there.

The exceptionally heavy rain last Friday has lodged a good deal of the heavy grain in this district.

Wm. and Reginald Smith from Hanover, Ont., are visiting old friends and neighbors in this district.

Wm. Dageforde, Dan Habermehl, Wm. and Henry Bolander were among the visitors at the Edmonton fair.

The Didsbury bandmaster, Mr. Gathercole, has organized a band composed of Westcott and Cremona boys and we are looking forward to having some music of our own soon.

I say. They can't put it over Alex. He's Johnny on the spot every time.

E. B. Hunsperger and Tom Murphy have further improved their new barns by topping them off with lightning rods.

J. H. Braun has returned from the coast. While there he attended the Vancouver fair, which he thinks was very good with the exception of the beef bred cattle. To sum it all up he thinks if the farmers in this district apply themselves to mixed farming there is no place in Canada to beat it.

Carl Russell, who spent last summer at Westcott but went to his home in Kansas for the winter, has returned and will again make his home with T. A. Murphy.

Mrs. Ed. Brown arrived at her mother's home at St. Paul, Minn., on Friday, August 9th, in the afternoon, just in time to see her mother, Mrs. J. Kullenkamp, alive; as she died on Saturday morning. The funeral took place on Monday at St. Paul.

The Westcott Evangelical Sunday School will celebrate their annual Children's Day next Sunday at 10 o'clock a. m. A well prepared program will be rendered. A free will offering in the interest of foreign missions will be received. All are cordially invited to attend.

Neapolis News

Mrs. Peter Liesemer is slowly recovering from her recent severe illness.

Mr. Joe Good is very fortunate to have escaped serious injury a week ago when the hay stacker broke and some piece hit him across the face, which he carries in a sling.

Weeds of Alberta

Bulletin No. 1 of the weed and seed branch of the Department of Agriculture, Edmonton, is available for distribution, and any farmer may obtain a copy free by writing the Department. It is an illustrated work on the common weeds of Alberta, giving brief descriptions and well executed drawings of the weeds found commonly on our farms, particularly those classes as "noxious" under the noxious weed act, besides which is given the best and latest methods for eradicating each weed under the different systems of farming followed. This bulletin has been prepared by Angus McKenna, B.S.A., and C. E. Lewis, B.S.A., of the Department of Agriculture staff, both of whom have made a scientific study of the weeds of Alberta and the most practicable methods of controlling and eradicating the same. Particularly valuable are the methods outlined for getting rid of weeds, the methods advised being those followed by the most successful farmers and advocated by the weed experts and inspectors of the department. Every farmer in Alberta should have a copy of this bulletin from the Department of Agriculture, Edmonton. It is free to every one. Write for it.

Crop Bulletin

Batteries of cutting machines are extended in far-flung lines in the southern part of the Province of Alberta, and, according to Duncan Marshall, minister of agriculture, who has just returned to Edmonton from a tour of inspection, the harvest will be in full sway in a few days throughout the Province. Wheat, barley, oats and other grains and alfalfa and timothy are from two to three weeks ahead of last year, and it is expected that the returns will be proportionately larger. Ten thousand men will be required to harvest the crops.

The statistical bureau of the provincial department of agriculture has compiled the following figures regarding the crops and acreages from the reports of 800 correspondents throughout Alberta. Winter wheat, 127,200 acres; spring wheat, 855,000 acres; oats, 1,196,000 acres; barley, 262,000 acres; flax, 96,050 acres; rye, 17,725 acres; timothy, 51,435 acres. Total area under crop, 2,616,380 acres. In addition, more than 350,000 are devoted to mixed crops, including vegetables.

The figures for 1911, which were delayed on account of the difficulty encountered in getting the crop threshed, were given out by the department of agriculture on August 12, as follows:

Winter wheat, 243,400 acres, 5,000 bushels; average 20.5 bushels; spring wheat, 805,000 acres, 17,000 bushels; average 21.1 bushels; oats, 1,000,000 acres, 30,000 bushels; average 30 bushels; barley 165,000 acres, 4,500,000 bushels; average 37.3 bushels; flax, 55,000 acres, 330,000 bushels, average 6 bushels; rye, 16,000 acres, 320,000 bushels, average 20 bushels.

The Visit of Bishop Spreng

(Contributed.)

Sunday last was a red letter day for the Ev. church of Didsbury. In the morning H. H. Seibold of South Cayuga, Ont., preached a thoughtful sermon based on Psalm 51:10, after which the Lord's supper was administered by Rev. L. H. Wagner, superintendent of missions. At 7.30 o'clock a large and expectant audience thronged the church to hear Bishop S. P. Spreng, D.D., Cleveland, Ohio, expound the word of God. The bishop, who is a man of power and convincing argument, used "I beseech thee show me thy glory," Exo. 33:10. He dealt with the wonderful glory of God in its material, beauty and pre-eminence.

A second discourse by the bishop was delivered on Monday afternoon on Japan and China as he saw them. Having been privileged to have traveled far into the interior of China he learned much of the degradation, ignorance and superstition of this nation and strongly pleaded the necessity of bringing them the gospel, after which a free will offering in this behalf resulted in the splendid sum of $46.00.

USE OF LEFT HAND

Belief Growing That Man Should be Ambidextrous

Why is it that we neglect to use the left hand so much? Among English-speaking people 97 out of every 100 are right-handed when they reach maturity. Out of every 100 such persons 17 are born right-handed, three are born left-handed and the remaining 80 are born without preference as to either hand. Eighty are influenced to become strongly right-handed during early childhood.

No great asset in the world is so neglected as the average left hand. Formerly all the world was ambidextrous. Primitive man had no preference which hand he used. And in various parts of the world efforts are now being made to revive the use of the left hand.

Japan has for many years been teaching two-handedness to the men of its army and in its Public schools. The German Government is following Japan's example. Sir Robert Baden-Powell, hero of the Siege of Mafeking and founder of the Boy Scouts, does not consider a man a well-trained soldier unless he can mount equally well on either side of his horse, use the sword, revolver and lance equally well with both hands.

Guarding a Royal Train

Few people know that the passage of a Royal train is guarded almost every yard of the way, be the journey of the Sovereign short or long.

Many people laugh when they read of lines upon lines of soldiers drawn up along the railway metals in Russia where the Czar travels; but the same thing practically occurs in England, only without the ostentatious display of uniforms. The lineover which the Royal train is to pass is quite as effectively guarded, though to all appearance there is nobody there.

MANY YEARS AN INVALID—UNTOLD AGONY FROM HEAD-ACHES

Dizziness, Sinking Spells and Excessive Weakness Disappear With Use of

DR. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD

Nearly every woman will read with interest the letter of Mrs. Geo. Bradshaw, quoted below. It tells of years of great suffering from Nervous Headache and other symptoms arising from weak, watery blood and a starved and exhausted condition of the nervous system.

Mrs. George Bradshaw, Cosy Nook, Harlowe, Ont., writes:—"I am glad to state that I received benefits from Dr. Chase's Nerve Food which I failed to get any place else. I was troubled for many years, in fact from my early womanhood, with weak, watery blood, and given to drowsy. I suffered untold agonies from nervous sick headaches, dizziness, and sinking spells, in fact was a semi-invalid for many years. I tried many kinds of patent medicines, and got no help, and tried every new doctor that came along, but all failed to help me. Doctors told me I had no blood, and that my heart and kidneys were diseased, and that I had so many complaints there was not much use in doctoring up one or two. Four years ago I took six boxes of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and was glad to see I felt better, and then got six more, and they have cured me of many of my complaints. When I began taking Nerve Food I weighed 110 pounds, and to-day I weigh 139, and am 45 years old.

A German merchant, resident in Moscow, has left all his fortune, amounting to half a million, to all those of his employees who have served under him for five years or more. Their portions are to be reckoned on the basis of the first annual wage multiplied by the number of years they have been in his service. Those who have worked for the firm less than five years receive a joint sum of $50,000, which is to be divided according to wages and length of service. The staff have decided to organize the business inherited by them into a joint stock company.

Black Fox Farming

There is in Prince Edward Island a new development which is attracting great attention in the shape of raising fur-bearing animals. It has been proved that the climate of the province is particularly suitable for the breeding of black foxes, and a number of farmers have embarked in the industry with the most profitable results. The fur of the black fox, owing to its rarity, has become exceedingly valuable, and the Commissioner of Agriculture for Prince Edward Island states that a pair of live foxes were sold recently for $25,000 and another pair for over $20,000. The price of this Spring's pups was over $10,000 a pair and $5,000 a pair, while a cash deposit varying from 10 to 25 per cent is being paid for fox cubs that are due to be born in the Spring of 1913. Black fox farming as it is called, does not entail any considerable expense, the ranches consisting usually of an acre of ground with a steel wire enclosure about 50 feet square for two pairs, containing little houses for the animals.

Science to Imitate Nature

The view has been advanced in more than one quarter that during the next two or three centuries invention probably will be in the direction of imitating the wonderful economy and the simple, direct methods of Nature.

An instance in point is the electric eel. Its electric organ is in no sense a storage battery, but a contrivance by which electric energy is liberated at the moment when it is required. At rest the organ shows so small an electric force that a galvanometer is needed to detect it, but a sudden nervous impulse from the eel's spinal cord raises a potential of many volts with very little heat and so small an expenditure of matter as to defy the most expert chemist to weigh it. Fireflies glow, worms, and many deep sea fishes produce light without heat at a cost which would make a match an extravagant outlay.—Harper's Weekly.

The Pills That Bring Relief.—When, after one has partaken of a meal he is oppressed by feelings of fullness and pain in the stomach he suffers from dyspepsia, which will persist if it be not dealt with. Parlee's Vegetable Pills are the very best medicine that can be taken to bring relief. These pills are specially compounded to deal with dyspepsia, and their sterling qualities in this respect can be vouched for by legions of users.

A dime-in-the-slot photographic machine is, it is announced, about to be put on the market. The sitter places the coin in the slot and pulls a lever; the mechanism turns on an electric light, drops a plate into position behind the lens, opens the shutters for three seconds, develops fixes and washes the plate, and in fifty-seven seconds delivers the picture, finished and in a neat frame. If the mechanism should fail to work the dime is automatically returned.

A root cellar like this won a prize last year.

THE drawing was made from a photograph of the root-cellar with which D. A. Purdy, of Lumsden, Sask., won a cash prize in last year's contest. In that last contest there were 36 prizes. There will be three times as many prizes (108) in the

1912 FARMERS' PRIZE CONTEST

THUS you will have three times as many chances of winning a cash prize. You do not have to use any certain amount of Canada Cement to win a prize. There are absolutely no "strings" to this offer.

There are twelve prizes for each Province (three of $50; three of $25; three of $15; and three of $10) and you compete only with other farmers in your own Province and not with those all over Canada.

It makes no difference whether you have ever used cement. Many of last year's winners had not used it until they entered the contest. When you write for full particulars, we will send you, free, a book, "What the Farmer Can Do With Concrete," which tells everything you need to know about concrete. It is absolutely free, and you are under no obligation to buy "Canada" Cement or to do anything else for us.

WRITE your name and address on the coupon, and mail it, or use letter or post card, and we will send you at once the book and full particulars of the 1912 Prize Contest.

Longest English Word

What is the longest word in our language. The query has been suggested to a correspondent by the present discussion as to disestablishment. Our reader has found disestablishmentarian in his dictionary, and presume there is no objection to adding the prefix anti, and so obtaining a word of twenty-five letters. It's this way. When a man in public life travels around he is frequently annoyed by visitors and cranks. If I put down my right name I wouldn't have a minute to myself.

Weigh Doctors' Odd Fees

Welsh monarchs used to pay their doctors on a singular scale. At the court of the Gwynedd Kings the physician or surgeon ranked twelfth in order of precedence among the household officials, and his fees were carefully defined. For curing a flesh wound that was not dangerous the doctor was allowed no other perquisite than such of the garments of the wounded person as were stained with blood. But for curing any of what were called the three dangerous wounds, he was granted a fee of 130 pence and his maintenance during the cure, beside the blood stained garments.—London Chronicle.

Fatal Shooting Accident

The town was startled on Saturday by the report that Geo. E. Bradwell, who lives on the old Warren farm, had accidentally shot himself, succumbing to his injuries shortly afterwards.

Mr. Bradwell was employed by Mr. Hendry, who now owns the farm, and had two daughters and a son living with him, the eldest a girl of about 18 years of age and another daughter about 16, and the son 13 years, and came here from England about nine months ago.

It appears that Mr. Bradwell came into the house on Saturday morning remarking that there was a coyote near the house and that he was going to shoot it. He went to the old blacksmith shop on the place for the purpose of getting a Winchester rifle that was kept there, and that was the last seen of him until he was found in the shop with a bullet hole behind the right ear, the bullet going through the head and coming out at the top of the skull on the left. The little son, who heard the shot, became uneasy when his father did not return and went out to find him but could see nothing of him until he saw the door of the shop open and thinking that his father had gone back into the shop, looked in and saw him lying on the floor, wounded as stated above.

Help was immediately brought but the unfortunate man was breathing his last when aid arrived. Drs. Wort and Reid were at once telephoned for but by the time they arrived life was extinct. Coroner Stevens of Olds was notified at 4 o'clock on Saturday afternoon, but for some reason did not reach the scene of the accident till Sunday afternoon, the body lying where it was found till then. The coroner decided after hearing the evidence of those around that an inquest was unnecessary.

The accident has cast a gloom over the neighborhood where Mr. Bradwell lived as he was well liked by the few who knew him and he always appeared contented in his new life.

Mr. Bradwell was a widower, his wife having died in the old country, and besides leaving the children mentioned, above leaves some children who are married in the old country.

A great deal of sympathy is being expressed for the children who are here as there are no immediate relatives in this country, but no doubt they will be well looked after and assisted.

The funeral, which was conducted by Messrs. Durrer & Brusso, took place on Monday afternoon at Westdale church, interment being at the Hartmann cemetery.

Come Again, Westcott

A fine hard game of baseball was played on the local grounds on Saturday evening between Didsbury and Westcott, the Westcott boys trimming the locals to the tune of 11 to 0.

Unfortunately there was not as big a crowd present as there would have been on any other day and also because the people did not know the game was to be played, but it is hoped that the next time the local boys will make better arrangements and be on time.

The game was full of life from start to finish and some excellent plays were made, R. Metzgar, who was playing first base for Didsbury making a splendid catch of a foul between first and the home plate.

Scheidt and Metzgar was in the box for Didsbury while O. Strain performed the same duties for Westcott.

A return game will be played at Westcott in the near future.

Will Attend Con- vention

The regular meeting of the Town Council was held on Monday night in the Council Chambers, Mayor Atkins, Councilors St. Clair, Chambers, Shantz, Wrigglesworth and Oliver present.

After carefully discussing the Single Tax system and the power of the Council to impose a license on places of business it was deemed advisable to allow the matter of fixing the tax rate to remain over until legal advice could be had as the Ordinance in reference to same was not plain.

Coun. Chambers—St. Clair—That the Council postpone the fixing of the tax rate until after the meeting of the "Union of Municipalities of Alberta" meeting to be held on the 11th and 12th of September. Carried.

Coun. Wrigglesworth and Oliver—That Mayor Atkins, Couns. Shantz and St. Clair be appointed a committee to attend the meeting, their expenses to be paid by the town. Carried.

Mr. Hardy put in a claim for the refund of some pound fees collected in 1911. This being a new Council and the matter being laid over so long the Council were unable to do anything in the matter.

The work on streets and sidewalks was also taken up but nothing definite was decided on.

The Council then adjourned.

Bad Weather in England

Rev. A. J. Milton returned from a nine weeks' trip to the old country on Monday. Mr. Milton states that wet weather prevailed most of the time he was there and that altogether there was only about two weeks fine weather during his visit. The farmers are suffering through the rain, the hay crop being spoiled and oats being fairly beaten into the ground.

F. P. Milton, brother, W. Milton and A. J. Bright, cousins of Rev. Mr. Milton, returned with him and intend going into farming after gaining a little experience in this country. Two of the newcomers are experienced English farmers.

New Trunk Road

Following out their policy of good roads the Alberta government are working on the big trunk road from Edmonton to Calgary and have already completed a part of it. The road is supposed to be completed this year, but on account of the delay through wet weather the work has not progressed as fast as the government would have liked.

In conversation with J. E. Stauffer, M.P.P., we learn that the road will follow the old Edmonton trail most of the way, but that it would go through Didsbury, the trail from O.M.s. to Didsbury being used, and from Didsbury it would go west to the town line to Cressman's corner and then into Carstairs and from there south till it hits the C. & E. at Crossfield. The road through Didsbury and around to Carstairs is the biggest turn it makes and is caused by the big expense that would be incurred by going east of town over the coulees southeast.

John Stocks, deputy minister of public works, was through here a short time ago and laid out the road and an inspector will be down shortly to lay out the location.
